

The Sermon

Caitlyn Sibert

It was supposed to be something that was joked about in the back pew of a church

It was supposed to be
a one-time deal
to get it out of my system

It turned into a monthly
even weekly practice

It turned into a fondness for you

It left me
With a sore jaw

It left me
on my knees

